MISS MUZIO TO DO "BIT"

Sergt. Empey and Corporal
Holmes Again to Aid—D. S.
Ramsay Gives $25 Again.

Two great big drives are on, one in France, the other in New York. When you pick up your Sun this morning you read the war news first, of course, and learned what our noble soldiers and the splendid troops who are fighting in the same cause are doing.

Did it occur to you as you read to ask yourself what you, who have remained at home, can do to help those fellows at the front to win the victory? Possibly somewhere in this column you will find a suggestion worthy of your consideration. This Sun Tobacco Fund, as you may know, is the medium through which hundreds of loyal Americans are sending money to the soldiers Over There—the very thing the soldiers desire they need and want most of all.

The fund in less than ten months has raised the quarter million dollar mark in contributions. The swing toward $250,000 is now on in earnest. If you haven't sent a contribution so now, and if you have repeat! A lot of the contributors are regular repeaters and their persistent giving at stated intervals is a wonderful help.

For the two weeks included between next Monday and Saturday, May 4, a vigorous effort is going to be made by the McCrory store to increase its offering to the fund. There is a soft feeling for the smoke fund among all smokers and employees alike. They inquire of the managers of the Liberty Loan booth how the fund stands with reference to the other beneficiaries of the firm through sales made at the Liberty bond booth.

As is well known, James McCrory & Co. are giving to one of five war relief organizations a dollar for every bond sold there. It is a splendid thing to do, and this fund this dollar shall go to the smokers that these interested smokers receive show that the tobacco fund is standing well to the fore in the friendly centers.

Muzio to Sell Bonds.

Beginning with next week there will be a Sun fund day at McCrory's store every other day. Sergeant Arthur Empey, Corporal Charles Holmes and other well liked war speakers are to sell bonds and at the same time put in a good word for soldiers' smokes. On the final day of the drive Miss Claudia Muzio, the Metropolitan Opera House soprano, will sell bonds and to every purchaser of more than one she will present a photograph of herself autographed in his presence.

Miss Muzio has been from the beginning an ardent friend of the smoke fund, having by her cheerful enlistment for any task which would speed it up. She sings on the night following at a big benefit at Cooper Union and leaves for Chicago soon after to fill an engagement with a summer opera company organized on a grand scale. Under ordinary circumstances the drive would have declined to a laborer for her labor of love not to be relinquished.

At the McCrory booth yesterday there was a genuine activity. The picture "Over the Top" has been hung just above the booth, and the drama and realism of it attract at first view.

Almost every night of next week is to see an entertainment projected and carried through for the fund. The concert and dance of the Knickerbocker Field Club will take place at the clubhouse Wednesday evening. From this the fund will benefit by the entire revenue.

On Thursday takes place the concert of the Blind Tunes Guild, in which the performers, although professional musicians, are without sight. The concert will be in the evening at the Light-house, 111 East Fifty-ninth street. The participants will be Miss Alice H. Johnson, Norwegian soprano; William A. Morgan, pianist; Louis J. Furman, organist; William Fuhrmeister, baritone; and John N. Burnham, tenor. All are of a high order of talent and Mr. Enderlin in particular is well known because of the numerous recital concerts he has given in the Brooklyn Institute and the Carnegie and Aeolian halls.

Posters and window cards advertising this concert are on display and tickets at $1.50 each may be procured at the Light-house or by mailing orders to L. C. Rambler, president of the Guild, or to Richard Steinmetz, secretary of the Association of the Blind, both at 111 East Fifty-ninth street. Remember the date, Thursday evening, April 25.

Soldiers in Cranford Entertainment

The officers in charge of the British Canadian recruiting station, at 220 West Forty-second street, have been notified by the Cranford company of the New Jersey National Guard to take part in an entertainment to be given at the Cranford Theatre Thursday night of next week, and also with the Sun Tobacco Fund as the beneficiary.

They have accepted the invitation and are preparing to contribute several numbers to the programme.

The British and Canadians will send Cranford bayonet drill, and a few of motion pictures, so that it is conceivable that the entertainment will resolve itself into a combination smoke fund and recruiting rally, in which case two excellent results will be attained.

On the next night comes the concert of the Ernest A. Ash School, assisted by a well known tenor singer, at the Chateau du Parc, Park place and Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn. A surprise store for the patrons of the concert when they listen to the playing of several precious musicians. The entire proceeds come to the fund. Tickets are being sold at 50 cents, but none will be sold on the night of the affair.

Saturday night the friends of the musical employees of Station T. in the Bronx, will go to the cabaret and dance at the McKinley Square Casino, 169th street and Boston road. This will be the most joyous party The Bronx has entertained in a long time.

May will begin promisingly, with many events already under way, but there are not quite far enough advanced to tell about. On the evening of May 10 the dance of Frank Thompson, employees at Donovan's Hall comes off. This was devised because so many of the employees have a man of the family in the American expeditionary forces abroad, and the only way they can find to send them the tobacco for which they are all clamoring is by getting money to the Sun Tobacco Fund.

On the evening of May 3 in Aeolian Hall there will be a novel entertainment entitled "An Evening with Service." The director of this is the president of the Henderson School of Oratory and Dramatic Art, Prof. Alfred E. Henderson, who will read from the latest book of poems by Robert W. Service. There
